Description

This stunning property has been the ambitious project of a local man for several years and now as he has reached the termination of the project we can see that it has been worth the investment of time and money ... he has developed and refurbished an important local building resulting in a grand country residence ready for use as a hotel or casa rural. The location! Rarely as agents do we take on a property that makes you want to return immediately ... the location is the key to this enterprise as the hotel is set at the head of a beautiful valley looking all the way down to the coast at Denia. Just below the grounds is a small lake filled from water runoff from the surrounding mountains. A few hundred metres away is the entrance to the Barranco del Infierno which is a 10km long and incredibly deep ravine well known to hikers and rock climbers. As a centre for mountain activities there...
